

Fonts // GUIDELINES

Fonts

When creating marketing and communications materials for Penn State, the use of our brand fonts will provide greater visual consistency across all our designs. Beyond the PowerPoint fonts, our brand fonts afford options and flexibility for use in digital and for print, because of the power of Adobe Fonts and their Open Type design. For certain aesthetic and practical reasons, we are recommending specific fonts for certain uses or mediums:

Print

The Proxima Nova (Proxima Nova and Proxima Nova Condensed) and Serifa typefaces are best for printing as they are well designed for significant accuracy at high resolution. On page two is a comparison of Avenir (our previous brand font recommended for print) and Proxima Nova. It's worth noting that Proxima Nova renders slightly smaller at the same point size as Avenir.

Web

The Roboto typeface (Roboto, Roboto Slab, and Roboto Condensed) is recommended for website design and has advantages as a web typeface available from Adobe Fonts and Google Fonts. Roboto's Slab and Condensed fonts make it a robust choice for our web sites. On page three are examples of Roboto used on psu.edu.

Digital

Digital includes any non-web applications, such as social platforms, videos, and digital ads. You have plenty of flexibility to use the Proxima Nova, Serifa, and Roboto typefaces for this digital category. Consider aligning your choice with the typeface from your website, print materials, or videos.

PowerPoint

When preparing PowerPoint presentations, or using any Microsoft Office software, Franklin Gothic and Rockwell are recommended since these fonts are included within those products.

Activating Adobe Fonts

Adobe Fonts are also Open Type fonts and can be activated through Adobe Creative Cloud. If you have not downloaded Adobe Creative Cloud yet, please visit adobe.psu.edu and follow the download instructions. Open Type fonts (including Proxima Nova and Roboto) work with all Adobe applications, are designed for both print and digital use, and work on both Mac and PC platforms.

PRO TIP //

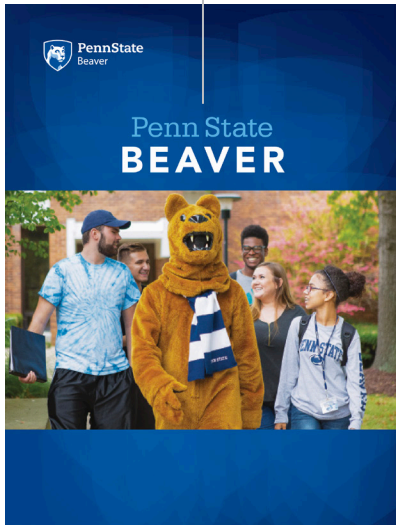

Adobe Fonts can be activated through Adobe Creative Cloud, which is free to the university community.

PRO TIP //

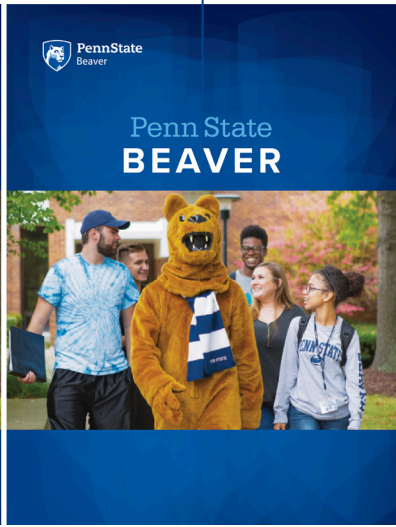

Proxima Nova and Roboto are being added to our brand fonts

ROBOTO + ROBOTO CONDENSED

The screenshot shows the Penn State website homepage. The header features the Penn State logo, navigation links (This is Penn State, Academics, Admission, Tuition and Aid, Research, Athletics, News), and buttons for HOTLINE, GIVE, and APPLY. The main banner displays the text "We Are" in a large, white, sans-serif font. Below the banner are three columns of content: "World-Class Education", "Interdisciplinary Research", and "Global Service and Impact". The footer includes a "Top 50" ranking, a "Top 25" ranking, and a "Top 18" ranking. The bottom navigation bar contains links for EXPLORE, RESOURCES, POPULAR LINKS, and STAY CONNECTED. The font "ROBOTO" is used for the main text, and "ROBOTO CONDENSED" is used for the header and footer text.
